WELFAREWELL

by Cat Delaney

Directed by Evelyn Birch

Presented by special arrangement with Samuel French

The first weekend of Welfarewell is over and the cast, crew and audiences have been thrilled with the show.

After being arrested for burying her cat in the yard, Esmerelda Quipp discovers a sense of community, not to mention free room and board, in prison. Can she convince the legal system she should be incarcerated indefinitely?

There's still time to catch this poignant comedy which runs for two more weekends. (Sunday matinee was almost sold out, so buy your tickets soon!)

Thursdays (Feb. 25 and March 3) are Pay What You Can – cash only at the door. Tickets for all other performances are available at Intwined Fibre Arts, across from the Art Gallery, online (see button below) or at the door an hour before the performance.

The play runs till March 5. Check the website for times and ticket information.

This show contains adult themes.

Theatre 101

We are again offering our popular workshop for people who want to know about all the jobs and steps that go into producing a play. Theatre 101 starts with play selection by the Artistic Committee and through the set design, costumes, directing, acting, etc. right up until closing night. There will even be a mock audition for those who might like to know what that's like. Some come just out of curiosity while others use the experience as stepping off point for getting more involved. The workshop is free and will be happening on March 5th from 10:00 am - 2:00 pm at the theatre. For more information and to register, call Julia at 250-833-1496 or send her an email.

2016 - 2017 Season
